Blackweir Live – come to the Open Meeting

The New Friends of Bute Park have set up the Open Meeting at the Cathays Community Centre for the evening of Thursday 19th June.

Neighbours like Mary, Susan and others from North Road have been in touch to express concern about the whole 'Blackweir Live' set up.

With Paul from New Friends of Bute Park inviting you all to this Open Meeting – hopefully a discussion on what the concerns about

This does feel like another Dalton Lunch Club, Gower Pub, Maindy Velodrome etc eruption – so please do get involved if your concerned about the direction all this is going in. See the poster on 19th June entry for more details ……. Your voice counts Cathays!

Do we need community insurance?

Community insurance is a must for certain activities like Community Gardens, Health groups, family events and other forms of volunteering.

This conversation has been dragging out since 2018 when I was raising funds for 2 separate community insurances which were basically doing the same activity. A bit nuts – yet I've always put the resident's sensitivity first on this issue and why you want to keep things pure.

With the indirect collaboration of 9 different groups across Cathays undertaking the same volunteering, over the last 10 years (some longer than others) – the majority of them will have their own insurance as is required by businesses, faith groups, education, charity or CIC etc.

Book Space Cardiff – 1 year Anniversary

Congrats to Lily with her first year of running Book Space Cardiff on Crwys Road.

Residents like 'Ripper' (Cliff) greatly enjoy Lily's bookshop and he buys a book there every month. One of the book passionate students created a video for Lily (at no costs) to support this amazing local business.

2012's Mapping efforts

The local Transition group did make efforts to pioneer Green Mapping a few years into the recession.

Over the last 60 months these maps are being updated and broken down a little more into different districts. It is good to have a resource that the neighbours can see all the positive things happening in their area.

Watch this space for updates in the coming years …..

RIP Eno Booth

Although it would be nice to write more about other residents/neighbours who have passed – this man did deserve a larger entry – you can read it below.

Cathays has had 100's of reputable characters living here over the last 100 years, all their memories, experiences and stances should be preserved / remembered – they made the area what it was; a stronger community back in the day. Cathays is still a good place to live because of those who did so much before us ……

Next Door Cardiff group

The 'Next Door App' many of you use – there is a Cardiff Wide group set up that may be of some use to you - https://nextdoor.co.uk/g/1l5ig4nyz/ - please check it out?

Although not a fan of social media, and use it sparingly, groups like this Next Door Cardiff entity could help swap ideas – it is an experiment you can try to help tied across Cardiff …….. or it could just be a moaning platform.

Saying goodbye to loved one who will die soon …

Three of our residents have recently spoke of the imminent deaths of their family members ….

There is never any drama when our residents speak, very matter of fact and calmly in a sensible manner. Yet the pain in their eyes can never be hidden …….

Many of you are faced with agreeing to DNR [Do Not Resuscitate] orders on loved ones – that is a hard pill to swallow; and we tell ourselves it is for the best.

A further 3 more residents have had strokes in the last 12 months, the appearance of their faces or bodies with partial paralysis is very saddening to observe. They do not want your pity though – just your company.

The more I hear these tragic experiences – the more I try to engage with our locale. Don't take your neighbours for granted – as we will all wake up every month and another one has passed away.

I implore all of you – make time for your friends, family and neighbours – as inevitably one day we will wake up and another Cathays star is extinguished.

It's easy to say when everyone is on the go 7 days a week and exhausted by life – well life just being life in general. Yet please do push yourself to see your friends and neighbours.

Likewise; I am well overdue for some meet up's with various residents – please don't think I've forgotten about any of you. We will touch base soon.

RIP Henry 'Eno' Booth – resident, husband, father, grandfather, legend.

It is with a heavy heart to inform the community that Henry Booth (better known as Eno) passed on the evening of Friday 30th May aged 89. The Booth family are well known for their love and connection to the CSAS: The Cathays Sports & Social on Cathays Terrace.

Right up to lookdown – Eno was always on good form, being one of the CSAS 'book ends' (shared with Mr Colin Wright) at the CSAS – and I learned a lot about the local history over our 2014-2019 conversations. Eno certainly lived a full life – he was always upbeat when telling the stories of him being a young man - and some of the colourful old tyrants, as neighbours, in the 1950's and 1960's Cathays that Eno had to deal with when he first brought into Treorchy Street.

Eno and Pauline married and by the 1960's their 4 children were born through to the 1970's – Maureen, Michael, Janie and Martin.

Eno's wife Pauline passed 17 years earlier, around the 2008 recession – leaving a real emptiness in his heart for the next two decades; yet the the Booth family is a tight knit and large family who always pulled together in times of need.

A long-term Treorchy Street resident, Eno was one of the original residents to set up domestic surveillance – and in the 2010's would regularly go out and tell off the bin men for smashing the Kerbside Caddies back on the road once they had been emptied. It epitomised who Eno – always a fair man, yet certainly not someone to tolerate fools or misbehaviour! A trait much of the family share and can be counted on and relied upon.

One of his greater contributions to Cathays was Eno being manager of The Railway Club (Maindy Road adjacent to the old rail sidings) from 1984 to 1996 before it all closed down with the redevelopment behind Maindy Road of the student halls of residence.

The Railway Club had it's skittle alley, bar – and the central space of the venue was a boxing ring which they held an annual charity boxing match to support local causes. It was a focal point of Cathays that many of the traditional Cardiff folk did enjoy frequenting – which many of the original Cathays folks have fond memories.

It would seem that hospitality runs in the Booth bloodlines with three generations of them being managers/staff at the CSAS (formerly 'The Cathays Liberal Club') with Pauline being at (originally called Cathays Liberals Club) then Mike was there in the mid 2010's of the CSAS and grandson Mark taking over in 2018.

The four Booth children (and by default grandchildren) were all brought up with a strong work ethic of hard graft and family values and were equally renowned for their kindness. They would always be there at the working clubs/social gatherings and were well regarded in the original Cathays community.

Dominantly all of them are big, tall characters with hearts of gold, yet they never tolerated bullies – in any generation of the Booth's – and always there to help the neighbours out when there was strife off the usual infamous ragamuffins.

The likes of CSAS ex-committee Adrian Locke (now in his 80's and another legend locally in his own right) lamented days after Eno had passed "FEELING so, so sad after hearing the news of the passing away of my best mate Eno". True friendship!

Just remember all you people of Cathays living in Cathays today – the likes of Eno and Pauline Booth; couples/families who carved out what the Cathays community was about in the mid to latter 20th century before 'the change' (of studentification) – the essence of a proper connected community. The Booth's created focal points in our community, where the old school could come together – and for this we should honour them and remember them.

At least Eno; you and Pauline are back together in a better place…… you will be missed Mr Henry 'Eno' Booth. Your legacy makes us all stand up to better ourselves. Images courtesy of the Booth family.

Residents please help the students when they move - Monday 16th to 29th June

Cardiff Digs info: https://www.cardiffdigs.co.uk/recycling-waste/love-when-you-leave/
Cardiff Digs FB page: https://www.facebook.com/cardiffdigs.lletycaerdydd

As residents, we wish to discourage it bad practise like this – where bags have unseparated waste just strewn out irresponsibly dumped.

This does not happen as much, as what some residents would infer. Yet it is a positive thing that the residents have been engaged more with the students in a post lockdown world by supporting the 'Get out of Cardiff campaign'.

Residents make progress – the last 2 years, as an experiment, with the network we have set up – the 1st week was not publicised that well, yet with the residents stepping it up a notch for the 2nd/3rd week in past June 'deposit points / waste drop off points' the students were better apprised of the options available to them to responsibly discard their waste.

Please do mention that they can take larger items such as:

Clothing/Textiles
Small electrical items
CDs/DVDs/Books
Ceramics (plates, cups, etc)
Pots/Pans/Knives – please clean
Non-perishable foods
Household batteries
Light bulbs

At these two deposit points below – for those that can not get to Lamby Way Recycling Facility. Not all students have cars. The waste receptacles you can see in the image below, and the LWYL (Love Where You Live) and Council Waste teams will be there to advise the students on any question they have got on getting rid of their waste.

Drop-off Location 1: Salisbury Road

Open every day for two weeks including weekends from Monday 16th of June to Sunday 29th June – 10am to 3pm.

Located at the junction where Miskin Street meets Lowther Road (outside Misfits Social Club)

The students can take down all the items that will not be collected by the regular bin collections on a Wednesday morning.

Word-of-mouth recommendations by the residents and landlords will help the students responsibly get their excess waste disposed of – without the need to lose their bonds, or get bin fines.

If we all do out bit, we can help alleviate the burden of this intense transition.

Do you think the residents should set up a similar thing to recover wood, metal etc and other resources for our own local projects?

Drop-off Location 2: Opposite Cathays Library

For two weekends only, open on the 21st, 22nd, 28th, and 29th of June – 10am-3pm.

Located at the pedestrian area where Cathays Terrace meets Pentyrch Street, outside the schools and opposite the local library.

THANK YOU to the Landlords and tradespeople we've built relationships with over the last 3 decades – to allow the residents to recover a lot of C&D waste – and re-use it for our local projects. ALSO for the discarded products the students no longer need – e.g. kettles, frying pans etc – which those more in need can recover.

With future efforts the residents and landlords are quietly trialling, there is so much more we can do with waste recovery and reducing the last few decades of litter blight in the area. By working with the 4 universities – our community can make positive steps forward.

Items NOT Accepted:

No fridges, freezers, large appliances, furniture or mixed bags of rubbish/waste.

Preparing for the potential Cathays PACT – residents please get involved!!

Hello to the people of Cathays,

Since the COVID pandemic, community connections in Cathays have changed - and so has the way we experience safety and policing. That's why we launched a new project to bring residents, researchers, and local partners together to rebuild trust and strengthen neighbourhood policing.

We began the process in March with our first Lab, where some of you kindly contributed to the start of the conversation. Throughout May and June we're running pop-up Labs across Cathays to hear the thoughts and experiences about community safety from local residents. These Labs are appearing in a range of community spaces, designed to get different group's perspectives on community safety in Cathays.

An invite to Lab 3

We're inviting you to Lab 3, where we'll bring all this community insight together to create ideas for the future. Lab 3 will take place in two parts:

Part 1: What We've Heard So Far (Thursday 17th July, 6pm – 7:30pm)

We'll share the key insights from the pop-up Labs and ask: What do they mean for community safety in Cathays?

Part 2: Ideas For The Future (Wednesday 23rd July, 6pm – 7:30pm)

Let's co-create a roadmap for better community safety. We will be asking, how can the Cathays community work together – with South Wales Police and others – to make Cathays a safer, more connected place?

Both Labs will be in the Event Space @ sbarc|spark, Maindy Rd, Cardiff CF24 4HQ and ideally people should aim to attend both parts of the Lab.

Your voice matters. Join us to help shape the future of your neighbourhood.

How to get involved

If you can attend, please let us know you are coming by emailing spark@cardiff.ac.uk indicating which or both Labs you can attend. This is important so we can plan the Lab accordingly and ensure we have enough refreshments for everyone.

In your email, please also let us know if you have any dietary requirements or if there are any ways that we can make the Lab more welcoming, accessible or inclusive for you.

Best wishes,

Cathays Residents undertaking some wildflower growing! Reuse Single use plastic!

Link: https://www.davius.org.uk/davius-nursery-biodiversity-projects/#projects-2

How we got from writing about dust to writing about the last 25 years of wildlife planting in Cathays was a bit of a jump – yet the 'dust article' will need a bit more time to write up – and add to a summer/autumn edition.

The amount of waste that gets produced in our households across the whole planet is shocking – yet some good approaches to dealing with these domestic waste mountains could serve the whole planet a lot better.

Be it Anne, Dougie, Alison, Steve or others out on their street clean up, being a good caring resident of Cathays – the amount of plastic, wood, metal etc that is tossed away – all over Cardiff – not a jab at Cathays. Yet one of our retail workers has been recovering the plastic from work – which is usually discarded and used it for planting pot trays to try and protect locally grown wildflowers the last 20+ years from drying out.

It is a gentle reminder of the

Not everyone can afford a rain butt in their back garden – in this case – when it rains; the trays gradually overfill and trickle down to the next level ensuring everything gets watered via a cascade system. For larger space watering – we, as residents should have a water retention resilience plan of adding several 100 water butts in key locations. Obviously this would not work on Coburn Street, or Rhymney Street – yet streets with frontage like Harriet Street, or some of Crwys Road we sensibly site water butts as part of a shared resource.

The link above shows Alison, Steph and other Catherine Street residents project (2018 onwards) with materials recovered locally, a water butt installed and a project that is self-sufficient with the residents looking after everything with a lot of 'learn-as-you-go' experience gained along the way. You all show us good examples with resident's projects like this…… and the residents have multiple projects like this all across Cathays.

On a smaller scale though – all those shallow plastic trays that get thrown out all the time – why don't you try washing them out and using them as external plant dishes to help collect the water. Even when you water the plants – a lot of it goes through the pot and into the ground – so having these capture dishes will protect your wildflowers that extra proverbial yard.

The future editions of the Cathays Monthly Update – we wish to highlight good practice that so many Cathays residents, businesses etc lead by example upon, for many years now.

Multiple residents of Cathays.
