October 2026 comments:

Mind how you speed ….

In September when I was on the bike in the early morning; I saw something in the road that bigger than a cat, or rabbit or bird – for 3 seconds it did go through my mind if it was someone got ran down by a car …….. picking up the pace quickly – I realised my error.

Someone had run a fox down. I wondered how on earth this could happen if you are doing 20 mph …. Bloody irresponsible driving. It did make me think of one of the volunteering efforts we did in Roath Park a few years ago, and I saw another dead fox – literally on the grass verge where it had been knocked back by the car.

Bottom line – please mind how you drive. People don't give a hoot until it is a human being ….. do you think we should teach the foxes to drive? Get their own back! @:p

Viv – 'Get Christine an MBE'

Long term resident Viv did mention how could the community get the recently deceased Christine Windels a posthumous MBE. What a wonderful idea.

I did respond with – "talk to Tina first" (Chris' daughter) then afterwards thought how on earth could the community make this happen? So many stars who have passed who did so much for this community. Wouldn't that be something to have a marble 3-metre-high statue on Crwys Road to celebrate Cathays legends.

Any stonemasons/craft people in the house?

In a rush – yet still say hello!!

On one 60-minute lunchtime, in recent weeks; I bumped into 3 lots of neighbours – Tracie, then Nick and then Mike – all in 2 connecting streets of Catherine St and Cathays Terrace.

It was good to see them all, as it is many of you – yet I was aware I was speaking very quickly, yet I didn't want them to think I was being rude and zipping off quickly.

It seems like an ocean of time ago that I was giving out a hardcopy Your Cathays newsletter and engaging with 1000's of you on every street.

So many wonderful ideas, so much potential drive and energy that just needs to be channelled appropriately.

On this issue, I am aware some souls do feel a bit isolated, it is frustrating that we try and show all these wonderful local events happening; yet there are groups in Cathays that have zero knowledge of this.

So how to reach out to them is a challenge.

Illegal fly posters on lampposts, bus shelters etc

One of our residents Richard has wisely mentioned the illegal ongoing fly postering on "lamp-post, bus shelter, telecoms box, and phone box now attracts posters advertising for gigs, events and political parties" – it is illegal and criminal offence.

As Richard put it – no-one is bothered about missing cats posters (many of you read and react where you can on that front to help out – thank you neighbours!!) great to see people taking pictures of these posters to – in order to keep an eye out for our missing felines!

I am aware certain treasured neighbours did used to take out soapy warm water and scrub them off; yet sheer overwhelming numbers of fly postering eventually deterred a few treasured neighbours from …….

Jack – onwards & upwards!

Massive love, respect and recognition to Jack Bannister, who used to be bar staff at The Cons Club (sadly closed July 2023) while wrapping up his studies.

Jack was certainly missed, after graduating he started with literally nothing – and within 18 months set up a travel agency: 'The Good Travel Agent' which in 18 months he was turning over £½M. 0

Jack has been named as a finalist in the 'Travel Weekly Agent Achievement Awards 2026' and we wish him well in the competition.

Jacks work ethic, positive temperament and other good qualities make innovators amongst our 20 somethings. Ever so humble, he really was a bright spark when he worked in the club.

Comedy Nights on Wednesdays!

Yes it's free!! Rhymney Street girl Jayne invites you all to Granny Mac's from 7pm on every ….

I went to one on 30th September and it was a lot of fun. The good half dozen stand-ups involved the audience in a lot of the skits – it was a wonderful positive experience.

A lot of 20 and 30 something young professionals are gravitating towards these sort of evenings – just as they are going to the comedy nights and wine tasters at Rhostio on Crwys Road – so for the wider readers across Cardiff (and beyond) please do consider supporting these two very contemporary and trendy venues.

Of course us 40-70 year old's very much enjoy the stand up acts too – so there is something for all the age ranges. It really is such a positive event – and a good way to meet other people too.

So you – do you think you can stand up and create a good laugh? Try your luck – you never know!! Hah-hah!!

Online Theology group

Would you be interested in joining an online Theology group, which happens approximately bi-monthly basis.

As a non-faith person, I've been to a few of these since the mid-2010's and it has been of great interest just to listen to multiple people of faith.

Before you foolishly say 'it will be boring' – I think a lot of people would be surprised. If you are interested in joining on of the Zoom meetings – then please do email this community update on the mail@yourcathays.org.uk – and your email will be passed onto the Theology mailing list.

When did we stop growing up? Or growing old?

One of my favourite colleagues is 85 years young – very intellectually progressive, active and has many weekly responsibilities – not just with the great grandkids dropping off to school (a former school teacher themselves) yet still employed and will do a standard 8 hour day – yet equally can go to the occasional 10 hour day if necessary. Job#3 certainly is interesting.

In the same group of people, the dominant age is 65 to 80 years young. They just don't stop – the incredibly vast backgrounds they all bring to work is incredible – there has never been a dull conversation with them.

Watching our 20 something colleagues having a bit of a inner-crisis that 30 and 40 (I will be old) something has to be some sort of benchmark – and inevitably they are 'running out of time'….. these though trends do need to be revised. By having role model 50-100 year old's in their lives – will help reinvigorate their perceptions.

The era we exist in, I am aware a lot of middle aged people wish to push State, work, private pensions back until at least 70years (a lot of pension you have to take when 75years) yet also a lot of them do not wish to leave their jobs – even if they just go part-time until they are can literally no longer work at e.g. 90 or 100.

Regarding our 85year old colleagues, an avid book reader and keeps up on contemporary issues – the conversations are just insane; so much to discuss and we always run out of time with the 2 hours allocated that we can meet up!

All the generation story telling is something we could potentially lose. Nothing artificial can catch the 'soul of a story' imitating voices or inflections still does not deliver it like the passion of a human voice.

There may be a lot of angst about the future on many levels … yet every generation had their challenging experiences ….. black death, world wars, famine …. Humanities job is to prevail! What are you going to do?

Pubs for sale?

Having a quick discussion with one of the local hospitality managers – it was a little disconcerting to hear that several pubs are up for sale. All walking distance from where many of you live…..

Footfall in recent years isn't brilliant; it did remind me of a news (tv) piece about '2 pubs shutting in England every week' – yet seeing so many pubs quiet now (I do not mean the summer – I clock this all year around).

Its one of those things – we lose establishments, life is so busy – we forget about them and make do …. Yet the losses are causal and it does destroy local connections on so many levels ……

Losing Dalton Luncheon Club was another disaster for Cathays in the 2010's – a damn horrific shame, which (sadly now deceased) Mr John Evans was spitting teeth about – as local hub for our seniors was decimated.

Going off key …… I ponder how many social-hubs could not just be for serving food, soft drinks, alcohol, book share etc – couldn't be 'power centres' too?

PV on the roof, a micro wind charger (tidal if you near a stream) – on-site battery to charge up for when possible electricity shortages happen. Could microgrids happen so the nearby pubs can power 20 nearby lamp posts? Or other necessary local resources….. just thinking out aloud.

Working with the 16-25 year olds….

Conversely with regard to the 60-85 years olds - Working with our 6th formers, students and young adults (amongst the wider group of 30-to-70-year old's) with Job#5 – has certainly reinvigorated my faith in the young.

The absolutely disgusting lack of professionalism I witnessed and recorded with regard to the 'staff' (although I'd never say they did any real work) in two infamous pubs over the August 2021 to July 2026 certainly did shake my faith.

Yet working with our 6th formers, students, and young 18-29 year olds has been an absolute revelation! Just listening to their viewpoints of the world, dating, the future, even politics …… their professionalism has been incredible. I do think certain 30 and 40 somethings could learn a lesson from them at times.

Overtime I have seen in 5 of 7 Shakespeare's seven ages of man the different generations of Silent, Boomer, X, Millenium's and now Z's – that sometimes our youngster are very wrongly demonised.

It was wonderful that with regard to a certain 16-18 year old (a manager told me 'they won't make it a month') and now a year later that teenager is very much part of our 100 strong team. We are lucky to have them!

Cathays Train Station – Building work on new footbridge:

Link: https://news.tfw.wales/news/work-progresses-on-cathays-stations-new-footbridge

Press release: 1st October 2026:

Work on a brand-new, step-free footbridge at Cathays railway station will enter its main construction phase this October having completed initial groundworks and cable diversions.

Transport for Wales (TfW) is now moving to the next phase, laying foundations for the new 'Access for All' footbridge. Passengers will notice increased activity around the station from October as the building work progresses.

The new footbridge will deliver step-free access, improved walkways, and a direct link to Cardiff University's Centre for Student Life.

The existing footbridge will be removed and replaced, with the new footbridge and staircase expected to open to customers in Summer 2027.

These improvements form part of the wider South Wales Metro programme, supporting TfW's commitment to delivering a more reliable, faster, greener, and more accessible transport network for communities across Wales.

Mark Hooper, Deputy Minister for Transport said: "This investment in Cathays station reflects our commitment to building a transport network that works for everyone. Step-free access isn't an added extra, it's essential for ensuring that all passengers, students and the wider community can use our railways with confidence and independence.

"Replacing the old footbridge at Cathays has been a long-standing commitment and I am delighted to see this moving ahead and know that the new bridge will make a significant difference to all that need to cross the railway line to access the university or the city centre."

Dan Tipper, Chief Infrastructure Officer at Transport for Wales, said: "This project is making good progress and marks another important step in our commitment to improving accessibility across the Wales and Borders network."

"Once completed, the new footbridge and lifts will provide a modern, step-free station that better serves passengers, students and the local community."

Alex Phillips, Programme Manager, said: "As we move towards the main construction phase, customers will begin to see increased activity on site as we prepare for the installation of the new accessible bridge and lifts."

"This is an important investment in improving accessibility at Cathays and supporting the wider community, and we are looking forward to seeing the project take shape over the coming months."

Ffoto Cymru 2026 @ Ffotogallery – 2nd to 30th October

Link: https://www.ffotogallery.org/ffoto-cymru-2026-about

ffotogallery

Ffoto Cymru is Wales' international photography festival, bringing together artists, photographers, communities and audiences across the country for a month-long celebration of contemporary photography and image-making.

Taking place from 2–31 October 2026 across 17+ locations throughout Wales, Ffoto Cymru 2026 will bring together exhibitions, events, talks, workshops and opportunities to connect with photography in new and unexpected ways. There's More to Life

This year's festival explores the theme There's More to Life — an invitation to look beyond the everyday pressures of productivity, progress and constant acceleration, and to consider different ways of being, creating and connecting.

Through photography, Ffoto Cymru 2026 explores the possibilities of alternative futures: ways of working and living that value care, curiosity, creativity, community and imagination. The festival asks how we might make space for play, reflection, belonging and new perspectives in a changing world.

Bringing together artists from Wales and beyond, Ffoto Cymru celebrates photography as a tool for storytelling, questioning and imagining — creating spaces where different experiences, ideas and conversations can come together.

Join us throughout October 2026 as we explore the images, ideas and possibilities that remind us: There's more to life.

Special one-day National Museum Cardiff Repair Cafe – 17th October 2026.

We're delighted to be partnering with Amgueddfa Cymru | Museum Wales for a special one-day National Museum Cardiff Repair Cafe on 17 October 2026.

From 1pm to 4pm, Repair Cafe Wales volunteers will be on hand to help visitors repair their textile items free of charge, giving worn or damaged belongings a second life and sharing practical repair skills along the way.

Alongside the repair cafe, visitors can explore a range of activities celebrating Wales' rich repair and reuse heritage. Take part in a rag rug making workshop, transforming reclaimed fabrics into something beautiful and useful, or contribute to the Textile Amnesty, where unwanted textiles that are beyond repair or donation can be collected and repurposed for future creative and educational projects. (Please ensure all donated textiles are washed before bringing them along.)

The event will also feature an opportunity to discover examples of repair from the museum's collections, highlighting how repairing, mending and making-do have long been part of everyday life in Wales.

This exciting event has been made possible with support from the National Lottery Heritage Fund and offers a wonderful chance to celebrate repair, sustainability and Welsh heritage under one roof.
